PACKARD AGREES TENTATIVELY TO PRODUCE MOTORS

May Contract to Build 3,000 for U. S. Army, 6,000 for Britain

Washington, July 3 — (AP) — A vast supplementary defense program, expected to cost upwards of $5,000,000,000 and designed to take long strides toward building up the nation's air forces toward a 50,000-plane goal, will be submitted to Congress next week.

The program, discussed today at the White House, is intended to start mass production of planes, tanks and guns.

Details were worked out in a conference between President Roosevelt and key officials in the defense program, but the necessity for completing some factors for the navy probably will result in holding up its submission to Congress until next week.

The program, discussed today at the White House, is intended to start mass production of planes, tanks and guns.

The multi-billion dollar program may be split about equally between outright appropriations and authorizations for additional appropriations to be made subsequently.

The army is expected to be given some $4,000,000,000 in aid and the navy another $1,000,000,000.

While this vast development was taking shape, the defense commission announced that the Packard Motor Company had agreed tentatively to build 9,000 airplane engines—3,000 for the United States and 6,000 for Great Britain.

William S. Knudsen, commission member, said the agreement was subject to approval by Packard directors. He said he would work only for the United States.

On the basis of estimates given Congress, the Packard contract presumably represented $120,000,000 or more.

Congress provided $43,500,000 for the American share of 3,000 engines when negotiations were progressing with Ford, and officials said the fund was available for the Packard contract.

The British share is in addition to this. Aircraft experts said an estimate that production could be started in 10 months was extremely short, in the light of industry's experience in creating and installing tools to turn out the complicated mechanisms.

Navy Lets Contracts
Also today, the navy let contracts for three aircraft carriers and two cruisers.

It was established authoritatively that the new supplementary defense plan will cover all the things the army has any intention of seeking at the present time.

More than $5,000,000,000 already has been appropriated at this session of Congress for defense.

One individual who keeps closely in touch with the defense picture said the new program was intended to get aircraft expansion "under full steam". By the summer or fall of 1941, he said, the United States will be well on the way to an air fighting force which would surpass anything that any nation now can put in the air, if Congress approves the recommendations.

The plan is expected to emphasize mechanization of the armed forces.

It was understood that while the army's share of the program was all set to go, the navy was brought in at the last minute so that the President might lay before Congress and the public a complete picture of the immediate defense aims of the administration.

Billion in Contracts
The army and navy have put their pens to more than $1,000,000,000 worth of defense contracts during the past month, a recapitulation showed today.

The contracts—covering items from bombs to bombers—represent for the most part, the first big block of expenditure commitments in the $4,500,000,000 cash program voted by Congress for the fiscal year which began July 1.

Reports of this progress came as the Senate naval committee scheduled consideration of the unprecedented $4,000,000,000 navy expansion bill which would authorize a 70 per cent jump in fleet strength. The House already has approved the measure.

Navy Heads Way
In compiling the billion dollar contract record, the navy led the way with orders for 87 vessels at a cost of $910,279,000. The sum represents hull construction and machinery only. At least $250,000,000 more will be required for outfitting.

Miss Caroline W. Eells Passes Away at K. S. B. Hospital

Miss Caroline W. Eells, 83, long prominent in the life of Dixon and community, passed away at the Katherine Shaw Bethea hospital shortly before 11 o'clock this morning, her death being unexpectedly sudden. Arrangements for the funeral, which will be private, had not been made at press time, and will be announced later.

Miss Eells was the daughter of the late Samuel C. and Anna (Moore) Eells, long one of Dixon's most substantial and prominent families. Her father became a member of the Dixon banking firm of Robertson, Eells & Co. in the early '50's and in 1859 the bank became known as Eells & Coleman. In 1865 the business was reorganized as the Lee County National bank, with Mr. Eells as cashier. The bank was conducted under that name for 20 years, and in 1885 another reorganization was effected, bringing into existence the City National bank.

Mr. Eells was made president of the bank and continued as such until his death.

Miss Eells was very prominent in the affairs of St. Luke's Episcopal church and for some time was head of St. Mary's school for girls at Faribault, Miss. She was kindly, cheerful and charitable in every way and counted her friends by the number of her acquaintances.

She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Charles C. (Anna) Upham of New York City, and Miss Betsy Pauline of Dixon.

Goat-Hauled Caravan to Appear in Parade Here Tomorrow Morn

Charles McCartney of Sigourney, Iowa, with his wife and child were in Dixon today on a cross-country tour using goats as motive power. McCartney is camped west of the city, where he is resting his unique stable over the week end and will then continue on to Chicago. He has a herd of 18 goats which are broken to harness and pull the two small wagons which haul the equipment, camping outfit and the family.

McCartney says that he adopted this means of traveling two years ago to create a job for himself. Last year he confined his touring to the state of Iowa and traveled more than 1,200 miles. On his tour into Illinois, he has traveled 300 miles in eight weeks and averages 18 to 20 miles per day. The wagons he constructed himself and goat skins are used as coverings. When exhibiting his goats McCartney wears a goat skin suit of his own make. He drove through the business district today and will appear in the Homecoming parade Thursday.

LICENSED TO WED

A marriage license has been issued by County Clerk Sterling Schrock to Gerald C. Peterson of Amboy and Miss Lillian Marie Elssesser of Prairie du Chien, Wis.

Here Are Some Little Known Facts About Declaration of Independence

By NEA Service

Thomas Jefferson was so stage frightened he couldn't defend his draft of the Declaration of Independence when it was debated in the Continental Congress; his views had to be presented by John Adams.

Biggest "scoop" of early colonial journalism was full text publication of the Declaration by Virginia Gazette, Williamsburg, July 26, 1776.

"We hold these truths to be self-evident", is not Jefferson's wording. He originally wrote, "We hold these truths to be sacred and undeniable"; the change was made by Benjamin Franklin, along with 10 others.

Approval of the resolution affirming independence was made possible when Caesar Rodney, delegate from Delaware, rode 80

A Fourth of July Editorial

All day, from the early morning, the streets of quiet old Philadelphia were filled with a throng of people. Earnestly they talked in little groups, but ever their eyes swept back to the door of the state house. There the Continental Congress was meeting.

The waiting people knew that debate on Mr. Jefferson's resolution was coming to a head. It was a declaration of complete independence, no less. Some were not prepared to go so far. Many had doubts. The very foundations of the world they knew seemed slipping away.

It was hot. The crowd waited as the hours passed and the sun swept through the zenith. At about 2 o'clock in the afternoon the door opened, and a voice was heard to cry excitedly, "It has passed!" The old bellman, waiting dejectedly in the belfry, caught the signal from a boy sentinel shouting, "Ring! Ring!" And he threw the iron clapper of the bell against its side.

Over quiet Philadelphia the sonorous tones of the bell floated as the bellman rang it in a tumult of joy.

The people of the United States had cut forever the ties that bound them politically to Europe. The metallic voice of the old bell was a song of a new world to be. It rings in our ears today as it rang in the ears of those people before the hall of Congress on that July afternoon 164 years ago.

Hancock, signing the declaration first with a bold flourish, and all the others who signed, were men unafraid. They took their lives in their hands, they risked their security. But they were not afraid. They closed their declaration with these words:

"And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred Honor."

We, their descendants and heirs, can do no less. On this 164th anniversary of that famous day, let us again dedicate ourselves to preserving, by whatever methods the needs of the day suggest, the freedom they won.

Listen! Can you not hear the echo of that wildly-clanging bell? Can you not remember the words graven around it:

"Proclaim Liberty to All the World and the Inhabitants Thereof."

Welder from Mt. Morris Burned in Cherry Valley Fire

Three large trucks and a quantity of oil were lost in Cherry Valley when fire destroyed a wooden frame garage of the Knox Motor Service, Inc.

Firemen from Rockford and Cherry Valley, brought the fire under control at 1 p. m., about an hour after an explosion set off when a welding machine ignited the garage.

Clifford Wells of Mount Morris, a welder employed in the garage, was painfully burned about the face, arms and hands. He was taken to St. Anthony's hospital in Rockford. His condition was described as "fairly good".

The garage was on the property of the Knox homestead on route 5 at the northeast edge of Cherry Valley. The company is operated by R. C. Knox of Cherry Valley and his two sons, Wendell and Vincent. The Knox residence was scorched by the flames. A favorable wind and efforts of firemen kept the structure from burning.

Flames spread swiftly through the 100 by 40 foot garage as oil barrels exploded and increased the hazards for firemen. No estimate of the damage was made. However, the tractor-trailer trucks destroyed are valued at from $6,000 to $8,000 apiece.

German Bombers Rain Incendiary Bombs on Enemy

The War Today!

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Herr Hitler is drawing his lines rapidly in a manner calculated to leave no way of escape from destruction open to Britain.

The second of the three grave threats against the very life of England—wholesale bombing, starvation by blockade and invasion—has now shown itself in the heavy losses inflicted on British merchantmen recently by both Nazi and fascist U-boats.

Good ships totaling more than 88,000 tons—many undoubtedly laden with precious food and war supplies—were sent to the bottom in the week ended June 23. The German high command also claimed yesterday that 299,000 tons of allied shipping had been sunk by Nazi air forces since June 5.

Meanwhile the rain of death from the air has increased over England in ever-widening circles which finally have touched virtually all parts of the United Kingdom from Land's End to John O' Groats. It's easy for German pilots to reach England these days from the many new bases along the continental coast opposite the little island.

We may expect the bombing and torpedoing to swell rapidly from now on, preparing the way for the third menace—the actual invasion which the Nazi fuhrer has threatened so often.

Thus far there has been no indication of the precise plan which Hitler proposes to follow. Quite likely he will be governed by circumstances. It is patent, however, that he is getting set, from Norway right down the coast to Brest in France, so that the invasion can be put in motion if and when the time seems right.

As a matter of fact, the coordinated starvation-blockade and bombing campaign might be sufficiently devastating—if the British defense proved ineffective—thus relieving him of the necessity of experimenting with the invasion, which is a mighty risky business in face of the British navy and other defenses. It is possible that he may decide to depend on these first two weapons, but there seems to be nothing that the fuhrer wants so much as to emulate William the Conqueror and send an army into Albion.

There are many experts who think he might be wise to be satisfied with the blockade and destruction of industries. However, there is something more than fancy impelling Hitler to invasion. He is pressed for time.

Europe, including Germany, is headed for a bad shortage of food in the fall. The Reich also is short of many essential materials for prosecuting the war. Russia's invasion of Rumania gives Hitler serious cause to anticipate trouble from that direction. And England's defenses are improving as she obtains airplanes and other help from America.

So the Nazi chieftain is aiming at a quick job on England. A successful invasion would turn the trick, whereas the blockade would take months. Anyway, if the invasion should fail, he still would

"Man Must Be Fool to Take Chances on Highway Today," Says Engineer

Chicago, July 3—"There's one coming every minute", Taylor G. Soper, executive secretary of the Illinois Road Builders Association, said today in a paraphrase of Phineas T. Barnum, who was born just 130 years ago July 5.

The road builder declared: "There must be a fool born every minute or there wouldn't be so many on the highways gambling with their own lives. Humans being what they are, we could expect a person to gamble with other people's lives, but not to play his own continued existence in a stacked game."

"Some 3,000 motorists and pedestrians who were alive on June 31 won't be alive on Aug. 1, if National Safety Council statistics of 1939 prove accurate for July, 1940, and they probably will.

"July is the year's most dangerous month on our streets and highways. The average number of traffic deaths for any July day is 90. A four-day July week end, such as that for July Fourth, will claim 75 victims on Thursday, 85 on Friday, 130 on Saturday and 130 on Sunday.

"In other words, during every 12 days of July as many Americans will be killed by accidents as lost their lives in the Revolutionary War.

"Some of the blame undoubtedly attaches to our use of 1940 cars on highways built for the 1920 speedster, some of it to poor signal and marking systems or poor police supervision, but most of it comes right back to Barnum's statement. A man must be a fool to take chances on the highway today."

BULLETIN

London, July 3—(AP)—The 15,501-ton British liner Arandora star, carrying Germans and Italians who were to be interned in Canada, has been torpedoed and sunk off the coast of Ireland.

By The Associated Press

German bombers rained incendiary bombs over England late today in the third wave of raids in 24 hours.

The Nazi planes struck twice in broad daylight in an apparently intensified new schedule of attack to spread terror and destruction among Britain's densely-populated millions before launching the projected invasion of the island kingdom.

In the afternoon assault, German bombers set fire to a big building in southeast England, while others touched off alarms in the northeast.

Nazi U-boats also increased attacks on British shipping.

In Berlin, the official German news agency, DNB, published alleged "win the war" plans for dragging most of Europe into the 10-month-old conflict.

DNB asserted documents captured in France disclosed an allied program for entangling Rumania, Turkey, Greece, Yugoslavia and Scandinavia to gain wide-spread new battlefronts against Germany.

The Nazi high command said German planes attacked a convoy off the English channel coast and sank 18,000 tons of British shipping. German submarines, the high command reported, torpedoed another 39,000 tons.

German sky raiders, displaying new boldness in a daylight sortie instead of their usual night-masked attacks, bombed the south coast of England today after an earlier assault that killed 12 and wounded 123.

One Nazi plane machine-gunned soldiers near the beach. Incendiary bombs also were dropped.

British R. A. F. fighters shot down a Nazi bomber off the east coast.

An official air ministry communiqué issued shortly after noon said anti-aircraft guns were still in action.

RUSSIA LOOKS WITH YEARNING TO SEA EXITS

Dardanelles and the Bos- phorus Wanted by the Soviet

By WADE WERNER
Former Chief of the Associated Press Bureau in Moscow

Russia's centuries-old yearning for the Bosphorus and the Dardanelles—in fact for any and all possible ice-free exits to the seven seas—has become more insistent in the 10 months since Germany invaded Poland.

Will Josef Stalin, leader and spokesman of anti-imperialist bolshevism, succeed in satisfying that yearning where czar after czar before him failed? Or will the maelstrom of European conflict merely suck the Soviets into a disastrous war with Germany?

The next few months may tell the tale.

The Russian yearning for the straits opening into the Mediterranean really dates back to Czar Peter the Great. The 17th-century despot determined to create a great Russian navy and, as part of his imperialistic program, inaugurated the policy of southward expansion which has been followed by each of his successors right down to Stalin.

Peter bluntly started a war against Turkey, the chief obstacle to any Russian drive toward the warm water. But the attack failed, as did later attempts by his successors to snatch Istanbul, then Constantinople, from the moribund Ottoman Empire.

Boilster Ottoman Empire

Naturally, without destruction of the Ottoman Empire Russia could not hope to dominate the straits. But England, France and Austria, as Mediterranean powers, could not tolerate the thought of a Russian fleet in the Mediterranean. So their policy for a long time was directed toward bolstering up this Ottoman "sick man of Europe."

Russian defiance of this policy in 1853 led to the Crimean war with France and England, and in later years Russian attempt to circumvent it were at the bottom of many a diplomatic crisis.

In the World war Russia was Britain's ally, and necessity dictated an allied promise assuring Russia freedom of the straits after Germany's—and Turkey's—defeat.

But after the war the world looked different. The Russian bolshevik regime, fearing the British fleet and capitalist intervention, saw the Dardanelles as an entrance for invaders rather than as an exit for Russians and demanded that the straits be closed to warships.

Britain, no longer fearing Russian sea-power near the Suez canal—since Bolshevik Russia's military impotence was obvious—wanted them kept open.

In Turkey's Care

The upshot was that the straits were left in the hands of defeated Turkey, and later (1936) Turkey even was authorized to fortify them.

But now Russia's military power has been restored.

Stalin's first move, in his series of moves taking advantage of the new European war, was to gain control of the ice-free port of Riga. His latest thrust, into Rumania, put Russian troops on the Danube, one step closer to the old Russian dream of control of the Dardanelles.

The same move, however, brought him one step nearer to possible conflict with Germany and Italy; for Russia in control of the Black sea gate to the Mediterranean could block German expansion southeastward and menace all that Italy hopes to gain from its fight against Britain in the eastern Mediterranean.

For centuries the Russian policy of southward expansion had religious, as well as economic and strategic significance. Devout czars and their devout Russian orthodox subjects yearned for control of Constantinople because that city was holy Russia's spiritual home. The Russian orthodox faith came from there, and the dream of priests and patriots was to regain the ancient Cathedral of St. Sophia which the "infidel" Turks had turned into a mosque.

This particular yearning probably has vanished in atheist Russia. On the other hand, it would be a great triumph for Russia's great league of the godless if St. Sophia could be somehow bolshevized.

Corinthian chapter, Number 412, O. E. S., of Illinois entertained the worthy grand matron and her official family at a special meeting Saturday. The luncheon table was a beautiful array of color with a large floral centerpiece and miniature red rambler bouquets for each officer. Nut cups and napkins carried out a dainty color scheme. The menu served by the W. R. C. women was perfect in every detail.

After the luncheon, the officers and members proceeded to the chapter room which was most artistically decorated with colorful garden flowers. This was a very important event in the history of Corinthian chapter, for although forty-two years old, it was the first official visit of the worthy grand matron. Corinthian chapter could well feel proud of both chapter room and officers for they filled their stations with exactness and dignity. The worthy grand matron made two official appointments:

Sister Helen Baker of Genoa was appointed grand representative of Manitoba, and Sister Ruth Lord of Polo was appointed a member of the charity seal committee. Sister Carrie Wales, worthy matron of Corinthian chapter, was selected to serve in the obituary service at grand chapter when it convenes October 1 and 2 at Medinah Temple in Chicago. She was also chosen to conduct a portion of the music on that occasion. The worthy grand matron was highly pleased with Corinthian chapter and granted it high honors.

A program of readings and music followed. Sister Fay Thomas gave the following: "The Bride" by W. R. Smith; "The Big Lie" by Juanita Orcutt; "The Legend of the Dandelion" cantata—Clokey.

Vocal trio, Mrs. Laura White, Mrs. Florence Joiner, and Mrs. Harriet Fahney, accompanied by Sister Carrie Wales. This program was so charmingly and artistically performed that it brought a veritable avalanche of praise. About 200 members and guests enjoyed this official visit which was most inspiring.

Officers in attendance were, as follows:

Grand officers:
Mrs. Lulu E. Benson, worthy grand matron, Chicago.
Dr. Alfred N. Moore, worthy grand patron, Chicago.

Mrs. Amelia Greenwood, grand marshal, Oak Park.
Mrs. Olive Roll, grand Adah, Villa Park.

Big Contributions to Campaign Fund Out, Says Willkie

New York, July 3.—(A)—Wendell L. Willkie has turned thumbs down on big contributions to his campaign for president.

In a statement on campaign fund policy, the Republican nominee said yesterday "I don't want any man who contributes to this campaign to think that by reason of a large contribution he is entitled to any reward in the way of an ambassadorship, or any other public position."

He announced he had issued instructions that contributions be limited to $5,000 and that all contributions from corporations be refused.

"In my judgment," he said, "this is a people's movement, and I want to keep it that way."

At the same time, he announced the appointment of a 12-member campaign advisory committee, headed by Governor Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota. The committee's members represent all sections of the nation and include leaders who were active in the pre-convention campaigns for Thomas E. Dewey and Senator Robert A. Taft.

He said no decision had been reached on a selection of a national committee chairman, but let it be known that his campaign setup might include a tri-umvirate composed of a campaign manager, a personal representative and the national committee chairman.

Committee Members

Members of his advisory committee, in addition to Governor Stassen, are: Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of Massachusetts, minority leader of the house and permanent chairman of the Republican national convention; Gov. Raymond E. Baldwin of Connecticut, a Willkie convention floor leader; David S. Ingalls of Cleveland, manager of Senator Taft's nomination campaign; Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, who made the speech seal.

Sister Jennie Klome, Lanark, district deputy.

Sister Lillian Buisker, Forreston, district deputy.

Sister Beulah Tennant, Dixon, district deputy.

Sister Grace Zeiders, Freeport, district deputy.

Sister Arminie Boston, Mt. Morris, district deputy.

Sister Gertrude Schreiber, P. W. M., superintendent, Rockford home.

Sister Ella Forkel, P. W. M., Oak Park chapter.

Brother Edwin Forkel, P. W. P., Oak Park.

Dorothy chapter of Dixon entertained this same group Saturday evening at Dixon.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many doctors relieve nagging backaches quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pen and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

It would have operated the United States government for three years before the World War.

Today beer taxes are pouring in at the rate of more than a million dollars a day. And, today millions of beer lovers everywhere are saying, "Once a Rheingold Beer Drinker—Always a Rheingold Beer Drinker."

You only need to try GOOD OLD RHEINGOLD BEER but once to know that it is good beer. It costs no more than ordinary beer so try it today. You'll enjoy its ALWAYS UNIFORM flavor and quality.

America is Your Home

THERE'S a lot of pride in his voice when the old-timer says, "Yep! I was born and raised here." The old fellow has grown with America. He has been agin' or for this policy, for or agin' that candidate, outraged by these taxes, pleased by those laws—but always he has been for America!

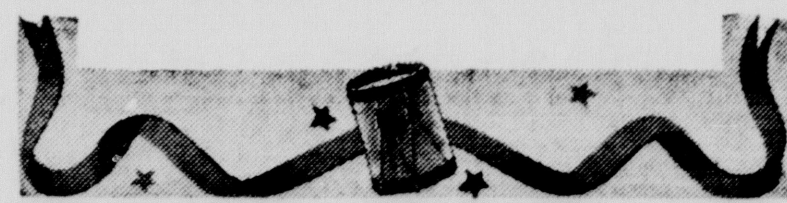

AMERICA is our home. It is our duty to be certain that our home is run smoothly—without prejudice or favor... that one end of the dinner table has as much food as the other. "I sell Automobiles—"

"When I started to sell cars twenty-five years ago there were few standards of values. Demonstrations, sales talks and explanations were long and complicated."

"Today the public, as well as the distributors and manufacturers of automobiles, recognize certain standards as a basis for comparing quality and performance. Power, construction, finish; speed and materials all have definitions that are recognized and accepted by the public as known values."

THE trend to which this merchant refers toward accepted, dependable standards, applies to other fields also. Take advertising for instance. Twenty-five years ago there was no approved measure for circulation values. Then the Audit Bureau of Circulations was organized in 1914, a national, cooperative association of publishers, advertisers and advertising agencies.

For the benefit of advertisers the Bureau makes an annual audit of the circulation records of all publisher members. Verified reports based on these audits show, for example, how many copies of a newspaper are printed, where they go and how distributed. These and other facts given in A. B. C. reports enable the adviser to compare circulation values and buy advertising on a business-like basis.

Newspapers are ideal for automobile advertising. People read the papers to keep up to date and all car owners and prospects are vitally interested in the latest automobile news. Dealers have found from experience that their newspaper advertising will reach the right people and get attention.

Added to that is the fact that their advertising investment in an A.B.C. newspaper is protected by the verified facts in A.B.C. reports. The result is effective advertising plus assurance that the advertisers get what they pay for.

PEACE---SHE'S WONDERFUL

BY ISABEL WAITT

COPYRIGHT, 1940,
NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY With Mrs. King determined she had discovered a kidnapping and Rhoda complaining about Peace, Denny is miserable. Then he sees Carole Love, the movie star. At dinner one of Peace's turtles turns up in Rhoda's salad and the dining car is in an uproar. Denny is just about asleep when a scream echoes through the car.

CHAPTER III

ONLY half awake, Denny jerked up so suddenly that he struck his head and nearly knocked himself out. "What's matter?"

The scream was followed by another, terrified, high-pitched, staccato. It overtook the eerie whistle of the train.

Groggily, Denny stuck his head between the curtains. Other heads were popping into the dimly lit corridor. In the middle of the aisle a stout figure, grotesque in flaming orchid pajamas, staggered to keep its balance while clawing frantically at its middle.

"Doing your daily dozen?"
yelled a male voice. "Go on back to your nightmare and let a fellow sleep."

"Help! Porter! Somebody! My
—my back!" Despite the chinstrap and smooch, substituting for a hair-net, and the general get-up, Denny knew the raucous tones and beady eyes belonged to Mrs. King.

"May I be of service? What seems—"

"My back! It's crawling down my—E-e-e-e-e!" Frantically she brushed herself and jumped up and down. A porter came hurrying, goggle-eyed, not knowing what was expected of him.

Even Denny hesitated. This was no job for a shy, young bachelor.
If only Rhoda, or some woman—
If that woman didn't stop tearing at her pajamas they'd come off!

"Don't be scared! It's only—there it is! Stop jumping! It's out.
See? Step back, Madam." And he pounced on a rapidly scuttling round green shell, just as the conductor came striding up.

"What's going on here?"

Mrs. King pointed. "Th—that creature! I—I found it crawling on me, conductor." With safety assured, her quivering tongue flew faster. "—animals—baggage car!
—scandalous!—kidnap! Snakes and turtles in one's bed!—President of the road—Los Angeles!"

Neither the conductor nor Denny could get a word in edge-wise for a full minute. Denny displayed the offending Darby.
"Little girl's pet got loose. Won't happen again, Conductor." He scarcely heard the official trade, but caught the accompanying wink. Down the line he could see tiers of amused faces.

Carole Love was smiling from her curtains in an upper berth. He was too perturbed at the time to wonder why a famous film star was traveling without a drawing room.

But Rhoda wasn't smiling. "That settles it, Wayne Dennis! Twice is enough. Remember? I warned
you. Now throw that nasty thing out the window before the kid wakes up!" She withdrew, only to pop out again, adding, "And the other one, too."

He was hanged if he would.
But the other one! Suppose it too began its peregrinations along Mrs. King's vertebrae? Or Rhoda's?
Holy mackerel, where was that confounded cornpopper!
Peace, he was thankful to see, was still sleeping like a cherub in the berth beneath Rhoda's. The corn-popper must have fallen from the window onto her blanket, releasing both wildly paving pests.
Denny plunked his turtle inside and fastened the catch securely.
For some time he fumbled around,
searching for Joan—or was it Darby? Then he took the small cage into his own berth. At least, he had one of them.

LAUGHINGSTOCK, that's what he'd be in the morning. Grins.
Glances. And the King woman going clear to Los Angeles! Would Illustrated by George Scarbo.

The scream was followed by another. Groggily, Denny stuck his head between the curtains. In the aisle, a stout, pajama-clad woman was clawing at her middle.

Miss Love take the same route as he? Hollywood? It was possible.

Odd that he, about to be married to another girl, should wish. Recalling her amusement at the recent high jinks, he couldn't help wishing Rhoda had a keener sense of humor.

He liked sleeping on a train. But that couldn't be the second gong for breakfast! Rhoda's curtains were closed, but Peace's berth was empty.

He asked the porter if he had seen the child. "She ain't around here, Mistah. Mos' likely she's having her breakfast in the diner."

She was. Denny found her at a table with a youngish, weary mother, who held a fat baby wriggling on her lap. A small boy and two little girls, all between 3 and 7, he estimated, were busily gobbling a tableful of inviting dishes.

"She invited us," declared the matron, who looked as if she'd been caught stealing jam. "She said you said we could order anything we wanted for breakfast."

"Uh-huh, Uncle Denny," Peace nodded. "You said no lobster for supper, but anything you want for breakfast, and I wanted them."

"I'd oughta known better than to take the word of a child like her. We was doing all right with our panekakes." The woman stared appalled at the check a waiter handed her.

They were doing all right with raspberries and cream, small steaks, French fried potatoes, muffins, toast, marmalade, and believe it and cringe, ice cream.

Denny appropriated the check.
Gee, it would jolt his bankroll.

"I wouldn't eat those pickles, honey, if I were you."

At that instant he spied a magnified turtle, futilely swimming in the waterbottle, and practically forgave her. "Not a bad idea!
However did you get Darby into the neck of that bottle?"

"Oh, that's Joan! And I had to squeeze her some. Uncle Denny, can we take the bottle with us to Grandmother's, if I can't get her out?"

Denny tried a fork. Then a spoon. A waiter suggested he take it to the kitchen. In a flash it oc-

Co-Operating With Canada

Practically everybody in both the United States and Canada now concedes that the defense of both countries is a single problem.

Ask yourself: Where would the United States be if a strong enemy invaded Canada and became established there? Or where would Canada be if the United States were successfully invaded by a force capable of accomplishing that?

Co-operation between the military staffs of the two countries is presumed to be imminent, and ought to be. As early as 1938 when new defenses were devised for the Straits of Juan de Fuca, leading to Puget Sound, both countries collaborated on a defense so designed as to work jointly from both sides of the border. Further steps of this kind are in order.

Just what the relations between the United States and Canada will be after the present war, no one can be sure. One can only be sure that they will be closer and more interdependent even than before.

News BEHIND THE NEWS

Washington, July 3.—Hitler has been figuring he would get through with the British and be ready for Russia before September 1... and he has a few interesting things in mind for the Soviets then.

Don't ask how such things are known here, but it is the official business of this government to try to find out more than is public knowledge about what is going on in the world. The following simplified guide to the latest turn of events in eastern Europe is accepted here with some credence in view of its source:

An ambassador of a Baltic nation rushed to Berlin immediately after the Reds moved into Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia. He saw von Ribbentrop and asked for advice as to what his country should do to resist the Reds.

Von Ribbentrop suggested a passive course for the present but promised definite help later. He said the German military plan contemplated conquest of Britain and peace there before the end of next month, at which time, Hitler will seek a new understanding with Russia—the kind he has inflicted on France.

He promised the establishment of a Hitler puppet government in Moscow, either by revolution or after German invasion. Conquest of the Russian capital might be necessary, and September 1 is a little late in the year for inaugurating military adventures so far north, but he anticipated little resistance from the weak Red army.

The Baltic bone of contention between Berlin and Moscow in Sweden, as the invisible diplomatic wave lengths report the story. The original von Ribbentrop-Stalin agreement in September apparently did not settle Sweden's future status. (It settled Poland, Ukraine, Bessarabia). Obviously German ambitions for Sweden have expanded since the start of the war, and especially since the conquest of France. The excuse for whatever Hitler wants to do in Russia can easily be found in that situation.

The coffee conference, New York
agents of South American products and their governments, sounded authorities here a week ago regarding establishment of a cartel for coffee. The scheme would follow the line of the Stevenson plan which the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is setting up for purchases of rubber and tin.

Word was sent back from on high here through an intermediary that such a project would be looked upon with favor.

A coup of the coffee market would vitally strengthen this hemisphere's economic defenses. Presumably the arrangement would call for the United States to purchase this surplus key crop of So.
America's second largest nation.
Our best friend there, Production, price and distribution would be planned. If anyone wanted coffee anywhere in the world they would have to get it here.

Latest confidential count has given Germany roughly two to one superiority over the British in the fighting power that both nations can put in the air. The rough estimate included not only planes but pilots and ground crews.

British defensive system has been further complicated by the length of its coastline. The attacking force could concentrate at a few points, but the British landing fields had to be scattered so as to meet possible threats at every point.

Military scouts have suggested Hitler's war plan probably called for attempted landings at numerous advantageous coastal points in Britain after thorough aerial bombardment. While his military men have not hoped that all of these could be successful, they have figured that if only two or three landing parties were able to establish themselves on British soil temporarily, the bulk of German fighting power could be thrown in behind them at these points.

A couple of non-Willkie congressmen compared telegrams they received at the Philadelphia Republican convention from people back home urging selection of the Hoosier nominee. They changed their minds about the telegrams being manufactured when both were able to identify persons whom they knew could not have been influenced by any lobby.

Treasury Starts New Fiscal Year With Big Deficit

Washington, July 3 — (AP) —
The treasury started off its new fiscal year with a deficit of $120,674,733 on the first day.

Figures for July 1, which became available today, showed this initial excess of spending which, due chiefly to the national defense program, may rise to more than $4,000,000,000 in the next 12 months.

The fiscal year opening also was marked by the increase of the public debt to more than $43,000,- 000,000. The debt, the limit on which was raised recently from $45,000,000,000 to $49,000,- 000,000, stood at a record high of $43,061,138,000.

The July 1 treasury statement differed from all previous statements of this kind to the extent that it reflected for the first time a law enacted last year taking old age taxes out of the budget. Starting Monday, old age taxes began going directly into the old age reserve fund, except for a small portion needed for administrative expenses. The bookkeeping effect of this change is to make both treasury receipts and expenditures seem slightly smaller without altering the deficit.

For instance, the July 1 treasury receipts were reported as $20,767,262, while the actual cash receipts that day were $20,937,354.
The difference of $170,092 represents Social Security taxes. Similarily, the reported expenditure total on July 1 of $141,441,996 did not include, as formerly, the same $170,092 Social Security item.

The first-day deficit, however,
was not due so much to ordinary government running expenses, as to the fact that this day was selected to make a periodic contribution of $93,520,110 to the pension fund for government employees.

THE PASSING SCENE

One of the local young fishermen sat along the river bank last night talking to an experienced hand in the art of landing the finny friends. The veteran of the hooks declared that there are different kinds of earthworms, some of which the fish will not tackle because they tickle their throats. . . . typical comment on the turnpike was the expression this morning that Joe Louis could whip both Galento and Baer in the ring at the same time. . . .

The party expects to do some fishing at Lake-a-Woods and Sparky is cashing in the High Life for some wild life country. DIXON-POLO GOLF SCORES

It took a bushel basket and a rake, but we finally gathered in these individual scores on the Polo-Dixon Country club golf match at Edgewood Country club over the week end. The Polo lads won the match with a score of 26 to 18. Ken Detweiler was low for Dixon Country Club with a 77 and Polo was paced by Jim Markle who fired a par in the first round and a one under par in the second for the low score of the afternoon with 69. KID SECOND BASEMAN OF THE PIRATES BEING CONSIDERED AS "ROOKIE OF THE YEAR"

BY TOM SILER

Chicago, July 3—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates may not be headed anywhere, but they've got a kid second baseman who is going places fast. He is Frank Gustine, and his manager, Frank Frisch, quite a ball player himself in his day, will tell you the 20-year-old infielder is "as fine a rookie as I ever saw". The young Chicago boy finished among the also-rans during the spring training ballyhoo derby, luring out by a wide margin to such heralded freshmen as Brooklyn's Peevée Reese, Cleveland's Lou Boudreau and Ray Mack. Dom Di Maggio of the Red Sox and Bob Kennedy of the Chicago White Sox.

But the season is almost half over now and it's hard to see how Gustine can miss serious consideration as the "rookie of the year" unless he slumps sharply. "He's a great kid," says Frisch. "He does everything well—runs, throws, fields and bats. And with all his ability he's a swell boy."

Young Gustine, in his fourth year of pro ball, now is batting a neat .333, good for third ranking in the National League, and is a strong fielder at second base.

DIXON SOFTBALL TEAMS WIN TILTS HERE LAST NIGHT

Reynolds Defeat Clowns; United Cigar Rallies To Rout Sullivans

With tumbling clowns and ragged Andies the circus came to town at the Airport last night where the Polish Outlaws of Peru put on a rollicking show with the Reynolds wiremen. The local team took the matter seriously and defeated the invading funsters, 7 to 3, in the preliminary encounter.

In the nightcap game the diamond rang with excitement as the United Cigar came back in the seventh frame with two runs to defeat the Rock Falls Sullivans.

The wiremen took the lead in the first game with one run in the second inning when Ankeny was swatted and score on a hit by Wolford. In the third frame the Outlaws counted three runs on one hit, two walks and an error.

The wiremen jumped into the lead with six runs in the third inning on hits by Murphy, Page, Ankeny and Grove and two walks. Only six innings were played.

Fordham did the pitching for the locals and allowed only two hits, walked six and struck out three.

Nightcap Thriller

In the thrilling nightcap game the Sullivans scored two runs in the first inning on two walks and two errors. The United had a burst of power in the last of the same frame when six runs scored on five hits, one of them a homer by Bus Carlson with two aboard. Other hits were credited to Bugg, Holland and Kirkey. Two men walked.

Hits by Van Drew and Weber accounted for a single run in the third for the visitors and another run scored on two hits in the fourth.

Flanagan, safe on a fielder's choice in the fifth, later scored on a hit by Davis to make the score: Dixon 7; Rock Falls 4.

Four runs scored for Rock Falls in the first of the seventh to give the out-of-towners the lead, 8 to 7. Hits were given to Weber, L. Gentz and Humphrey, two men walked and there were two errors.

In the exciting windup of the seventh two runs scored for Dixon on hits by Flanagan, Spindler and Bus Carlson. Carlson's drive sent the winning run home.

Carlson was the winning pitcher and he allowed the visitors eight hits, struck out five and walked five. Van Drew was the losing chucker and he allowed the United Cigar 12 hits, walked three and struck out seven.

Fourth of July Games No Longer Indicate Major League Winners

By JUDSON BAILEY

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Fourth of July is supposed to be a magical date in baseball because of the legend that the teams leading their leagues on that day will wind up with the pennants later on.

But the major leagues have two new pace-makers today, and are just as likely to have a different pair tomorrow, so that the only thing the holiday this year can be expected to prove conclusively is that a lot of fans like their baseball in big doses and are willing to pay for it.

The Detroit Tigers ascended to the pinnacle of the American league yesterday for the first time this year and the Brooklyn Dodgers regained the National league top rung for the seventh time.

It is entirely possible, however, for any one of three teams to have first place in either league when the fireworks are finished tomorrow. That's how close the races are.

Browns Tame Indians

The two St. Louis clubs took charge of yesterday's re-routings. In the afternoon the Browns tamed the Cleveland Indians, 5-3, and at night the Cardinals crushed the Cincinnati Reds, 4-0.

The Browns, who a few days ago bumped the Boston Red Sox out of the American league lead, seemed to get a lot of pleasure administering the same medicine to the Indians. All St. Louis' runs came on homers and Pitcher Vernon Kennedy himself decided the game with a two-run home run in the ninth inning, his second of the season.

Detroit, which had muffed opportunities to take over the lead on other occasions, booted this chance around for two hours and 37 minutes, but finally nosed out the Chicago White Sox, 10-9. The Tigers were outbait 16-11 and made three errors to two.

The Cardinals' shutout of the Reds was the handwork of Fiddler

Bill McGee, who kept seven hits scattered and batted in two of his team's runs. The Cards nicked Paul Derringer for 13 hits.

The Dodgers were ready and eager to resume the lead, plastering a 4-1 shellacking on the hapless Phillies behind the three hit hurling of Tex Carleton. Joe Medwick and Pete Coscarart hit home runs for Brooklyn.

The New York Giants, who are close enough to take control in the senior circuit if their rivals falter, lost ground as the Boston Bees banged out a 5-3 triumph, principally through the home runs of Chet Ross and Gene Moore.

Each team got 11 hits, but the Giants made three errors.

It was a day for pitching comebacks. Bill Lee, the big gun of the Chicago Cubs, returned to form to shut out the Pittsburgh Pirates 10-0 on five hits. He never gave his foes a chance and the Cubs clustered five runs in the second inning and four more in the fifth.

Lefty Gomez, who hadn't made a pitching appearance in the American league since April 19, went to the mound at Washington and was effective for seven innings to help the New York Yankees to a 6-2 decision over the Senators, who made five errors the same as on Monday. Joe DiMaggio accounted for four of New York's 14 hits.

Geoff Walker Is Injured

Geoff Walker of the Senators was struck on the right eye by a foul tip while trying to hunt and will be lost to the club during the holiday.

The Boston Red Sox, who are within striking distance of the lead in the junior loop, divided a doubleheader with the Philadelphia Athletics. Ed Heusser beat them in the first game 4-3, but Jim Fox and Joe Cronin hit homers in the nightcap and Boston triumphed, 15-9, scoring eight runs in the first two innings.

EXUBERANT BAER YELLS DEFIANCE OF CHAMPION JOE

Maxie Fights Well But Looks Old and Tired; Six Years Too Late

By GAYLE TALBOT

Jersey City, July 3—(AP)—Two tired, fat old fighting men slugged each other into a state of utter exhaustion on the Jersey marshes last night, and finally one of them, Tony Galento, was unable to go on any longer.

The fat tavern keeper was sitting on his stool, blowing like a harpooned whale, when the bell rang to start the eighth round. His handlers wouldn't let him go out, so the referee raised Max Baer's hand. It went into the books as a technical knockout in the eighth.

The fight—and it was a hard one while it lasted—proved only that there isn't a heavyweight in the world today worthy of challenging Joe Louis for the championship.

Baer, exuberant in his dressing room afterward, was shouting his defiance of Louis and demanding another shot at the big Negro to whom he once surrendered while on his knees. But Max is about six years too late. If he is smart, he will challenge Louis from the houseposts now, but not get into the ring with him.

Max fought about as brainy a fight last night as one would hope to see. He took his time, dodged Galento's mighty lunges and steadily punched the fat man into a state bordering on helplessness. But, even so, he did not look like a fighter to face the Louis thunderbolts. He looked old in the face, and without fire.

Tony, who had been a solid favorite, found the handicap of 24½ pounds of fat and a barroom cut on his chin too much. The pounds slowed him to where he was awkward in the clinches and a sucker for Baer's sharp blasts. The cut, administered originally by a beer glass pegged by his brother, opened up round by round until finally he was choking and blowing froth.

Some near Tony's corner claim they heard him mumble that he had enough. I was about four feet from him, but didn't hear that. Whitey Blumstein, Tony's chief second, said he was the one who stopped it. Tony, through a heavy bandage about his mouth, said he had broken his left hand in the second round.

Baer Wins Six Rounds

That, on the Associated Press score card, was the only round Galento won. The other six belonged to Baer. Max nearly floored his floundering opponent with a tremendous right to the chin at the start of the sixth, and gave Tony an awful going-over in the seventh, even smacking him a couple after the bell. Tony went to his knees once, but it was hard to say whether he had been hit or slipped.

A crowd of 22,711 paid $98,004 to sit in Jersey City's handsome ball park and watch the two veterans but each other and grimace like a couple of wrestlers. They are saying that Baer will fight Louis at Chicago in September. This is doubtful.

P. S.—Galento even had his end of the purse attached.

Dutch General Prisoner

A German announcement in Amsterdam said General Henri Gerard Winkelman, commander-in-chief of the Netherlands armed forces who surrendered May 14, had been sent to Germany as a prisoner of war following German dissatisfaction over unidentified demobilization "disturbances."

It warned that "sharpest counter measures" would be taken in the German-occupied country if there were further disturbances.

Pershing Favors Compulsory Army Training for U. S.

Washington, July 3—(AP)—General John J. Pershing today urged immediate enactment by Congress of a bill providing for compulsory military training. He described such an action as likely to help "keep this country out of war."

A letter from the World War leader and General of the Armies was read to the Senate military committee by Chairman Sheppard (D-Tex.) when the committee began public hearings on a training bill sponsored by Senator Burke (D-Neb.).

General Pershing said compulsory training could have saved thousands of lives and millions of dollars for the United States during the last World War.

"At present," he said, "such a measure, in my opinion, would promote democracy by bringing into intimate contact and on an equal footing young men in all walks of life."

"Moreover," he added, "it might well be the determining factor in keeping us out of war."

The general also cautioned that in "modern war the advantage is decidedly on the side that is ready."

The Burke bill provides for registration of all male citizens and resident aliens between 18 and 65. Men between 21 and 45 would be trained for the armed services under a selective system. Older and younger men would be liable for training in home defense units.

While generally backing principles of the bill, Pershing suggested that home defense units might best be covered in separate legislation and that training periods for men between 21 and 45 might extend beyond the proposed eight months.

18,633 NEW CITIZENS
 Chicago, July 3—(AP)—Fred J. Schlottfeldt, directors of immigration, reported today that 18,633 aliens became American citizens here in the fiscal year ended June 30. He said the figure was higher than it had been for 10 years.

A total of 12,163 aliens applied for their first papers during the same period.

Knox Nomination OK-ed by Senate Committee Today

Washington, July 3—(AP)—The Senate naval affairs committee approved, 9 to 5, today the nomination of Col. Frank Knox, Chicago Republican, to be secretary of the navy.

This action cleared the way for Senate consideration, probably early next week, of the Knox appointment and of the nomination of Henry L. Stimson, also a Republican, to be secretary of war.

The naval committee vote came after Knox had been questioned at length about, and had denied specifically, a report that he favored sending United States soldiers to fight in Europe. Stimson's nomination was approved yesterday by the Senate military affairs committee.

Knox also testified today that despite President Roosevelt's selection of two Republicans for the key defense positions in his cabinet "you haven't got a coalition government". There has been no official party action necessary for a "coalition," he said.

Chairman Walsh (D-Mass.) announced this committee vote on Knox.

How They Voted

For the nomination—Walsh, Russell of Georgia, Byrd of Virginia, Gerry of Rhode Island, Andrews of Florida, Ellender of Louisiana, Lucas of Illinois, Democrats; and Hale of Maine and Barbour of New Jersey, Republicans.

Against the nomination—Senators Smith of South Carolina, Tydings of Maryland, Bone of Washington, and Holt of West Virginia, Democrats; and Johnson of California, Republican.

Walsh, speaking formally as committee chairman, said in a statement that Knox "possesses the driving force and general knowledge of existing conditions to contribute much to the speeding up of our naval building program."

Columnist "Pastes"
 Mrs. Helen Essary, columnist for a Washington newspaper, had been invited to testify today about an article she wrote June 22 asserting Knox had told her that he favored sending not only cash, credit and supplies but also men to fight for the allies.

She did not appear, and Chairman Walsh (D-Mass.) said he had communicated with her husband, Fred Essary, a Washington correspondent for a Baltimore newspaper.

Essary told him, Walsh said, that Mrs. Essary's recollection of her Knox interview was substantially what she had written. Walsh added that Mrs. Essary was reported to be in Rehoboth Beach, Del.

Never For Seining Army

Knox, a Chicago newspaper publisher, said he had spoken to Mrs. Essary at a party in Washington on January 30 but had had so many conversations then that he could not remember all of them in detail. He insisted, however, that sending men to Europe was not his position and never had been.

Knox said that in editorials for the Chicago Daily News he had advocated giving moral and economic aid to the allies but was "opposed to sending American boys to fight in Europe."

Expressing the opinion that if England is defeated, the United States would be "far more gravely menaced in the Atlantic than we have ever been before," he said:

"We may be forced to choose between the threat in the Atlantic and the threat in the Pacific and it probably would be unwise to precipitate both at the same time."

As a result, he said, he had revised his views urging a "strong policy" toward Japan.

Invitation from the Skies

Our Prayer for Peace

Most merciful Father in Heaven,
 On this Independence Day,
 We pray that our land may be kept in peace
 In a world that has gone astray.
 Oh God, we plead, keep our loved ones safe
 Each father and son and lover.
 Save us from this bloody greed and strife,
 And teach us to love one another.

Oh God, we do pray for those bloodthirsty souls
 Who are fighting for worldly gain.
 May they pause for a moment and look up through the clouds
 Of the battle's black smoke and pain.
 To the face of our Savior who died for their sins;
 Shed His blood that they might be free.
 May they find Independence in their souls today.
 Turn them all, dear Jesus, to Thee.

State Regulation of Fireworks Is Marshal's Desire

Springfield, Ill., July 3—(AP)—State regulation of the sale and use of fireworks was recommended today by Fire Marshal Edward P. Allen, while Illinois health officers issued their annual appeals for cautious celebration of Independence Day.

Allen predicted a bill for uniform restriction of fireworks use would be presented in the 1940 session of the legislature. He said he would favor its adoption as the best safeguard against Fourth of July injuries and fatalities.

Except for a law banning their sales in the immediate vicinity of gasoline service stations, Illinois now has virtually no statewide restrictions on fireworks, the fire marshal pointed out.

"Regulation by city ordinances varies widely," Allen said. "The question of statewide safety measures very likely will come before the legislature in its regular 1940 session."

Illinois' neighboring states of Indiana and Iowa have statutes limiting fireworks' use to licensed public displays in charge of experienced handlers. Allen said adoption of such a "model" law has been advocated for all states by the National Association of Fire Marshals.

Health Director Pleads
 Dr. A. C. Baxter, state health director, predicted celebration of the Fourth would be on a "much grander scale" than usual this year because of "national tension created by foreign threat against the form of government."

He pointed out that one person was killed, 430 persons received burns and lacerations, and 21 others received severe eye injuries in fireworks accidents last July Fourth.

"Let everyone join with a will in the spirit of the occasion, but let each be careful concerning two important risks of accidental injury—fireworks and motor mishaps," Dr. Baxter said in a statement.

His recommendation for motorists was to "allow plenty of time for trips, avoid drinking when exposure to traffic risks is anticipated, and observe the rules of the road."

The War Today—

have his blockade and bombers at work.

That an invasion would involve a heavy loss of German life is accepted generally by experts. However, life is cheap in Europe these days. Personally, I have no doubt that Hitler would have only to raise his hand to get half a million young nazis who are such fanatical followers that they would rush to join any suicide expedition for him.

There are two ways to initiate the invasion. One is by means of a protracted bombing of all England with the idea of reducing it to submission. The other—and the one many believe he will use—is employment of a huge fleet of thousands of bombing planes which for perhaps 48 hours before the attempted landing would try to plow England from stem to stern.

Such an operation, amounting more or less to massed bombing, naturally would involve a mountainous loss in planes, which would be shot down by the British air force and anti-aircraft guns. However, I understand that the nazis would be prepared to lose say 5,000 planes if in so doing they could achieve their objective. The German army always has followed this strategy in making infantry attacks—depending on sheer weight of numbers to win the day.

At the end of this period of intensive bombing the landing would be attempted. Likely boats of all sizes, including a large number of fast ones, would advance on the English coast from many continental points with troops and equipment. Landings would be tried here, there and everywhere with the idea of getting even small squads at work, as was done in the invasion of Norway.

Presumably bigger landings would be attempted somewhere in the vicinity of London, and at other important ports. Water transport would be supplemented by air transport. Parachute troops would be employed in great numbers. Doubtless the Germans would attempt to move small tanks by plane, as did the Russians in invading Rumania. All these operations would be covered by swarms of bombers and fighting planes, and probably by long-distance artillery on the coast opposite England.

There is all the possibility that the nazis may try landings in Ireland with the idea of attacking England from the rear. The British recognize this danger, but thus far haven't been able to make military preparations for defenses in Eire (southern Ireland) because of that country's firm neutrality.

ANSON WEEKS

Anson Weeks who brings his orchestra to the Dixon Armory tomorrow night through arrangements with the Music Corporation of America, in addition to winning fame for himself in the orchestra world, has provided the field of entertainment with many notable successes.

One of Anson's first proteges, was the younger brother of the famous Bing Crosby. Bob got his start with Anson when the Weeks' orchestra was a standing favorite at the Mark Hopkins hotel in San Francisco.

Griff Williams is another who owes his start in music to Anson Weeks, as does Xavier Cugat. Both Williams and Cugat, who now have orchestras of their own, were at one time members of the Week's organization.

Having provided the music world with these outstanding artists Anson has turned his attention to new talent in the hopes of having the distinction of discovering and promoting another star, and it seems that his efforts will be rewarded in his discovery of the sensational new vocalist now being featured with his orchestra.

The following fellows who work for the Conkey company of Mendota, attended the Conkey picnic near Henry on Sunday, June 30: Glenn and Orin Simpson, Jim Moorehead, Raymond Prentice, Oswald Orfield and Ray McCord.
